How to Support CVV When You Shop at Amazon!

Do you purchase items through Amazon.com? If so, we wanted to make you aware of a program that Amazon offers called AmazonSmile that donates a small percentage of every eligible Amazon purchase you make to a non-profit of your choice. Clayton Valley Village is registered as a non-profit with Amazon, so this is an easy (and painless) way you can help raise funds for our organization. All you need to do to set this up, is to log in to <https://smile.amazon.com/>. On your first visit to AmazonSmile you will be prompted to select a charitable organization from their list of eligible organizations. That organization will then show up on your menu (see screenshot below). Then, an easy way for you to remember to log in to your AmazonSmile account (rather than the regular Amazon account) is to bookmark and always use the following link to login: <https://smile.amazon.com>

Did You Know?

TOP PHONE SCAMS OF 2019

Most people are familiar with phone scams through the occasional local news item that highlights a warning from law enforcement or perhaps the victim's own sad story about losing their life savings.

The BeenVerified Phone Spam Complaint Monitor sought to analyze these calls at a national level to identify the most common types of phone scams and their associated tactics. The report analyzed more than 200,000 phone complaints sourced directly from customers over a period of 2016 through the first half of this year.

Based on this data, the report has identified the top five phone scams everyone should be aware of in 2019:

1. Social Security scams – This scam has skyrocketed in 2019, with consumers complaining about social security related calls at a 23x higher rate compared to the same time period in 2018. In fact, they make up nearly 10% of all phone complaints in the report. There are many variations of this scam, but nearly all rely on threatening calls (or voicemails) from impersonators of federal or state government officials indicating that the victim's social security number is "suspended" "compromised" or affected in some way, following a demand for quick payment to rectify the situation. A significant number of these calls were also accompanied by threats of a lawsuit.
2. IRS/tax scams – Last year's previous top phone scam, reports of the IRS tax scam have declined markedly as social security scams have skyrocketed. It's unclear if this a permanent trend or simply a temporary shift in tactics. It's possible we will see a revival of this type of scam, which again relies on threatening calls from government impersonators demanding immediate payment of (bogus) back taxes, as we get closer to tax season in the new year.
3. Credit card offers – Complaints about robocalls offering unsolicited credit card offers grew this year. While some of these calls may be from legitimate companies, they also present scam artists with cover for attempting to obtain sensitive personal financial details.

4. Debt-related calls – Debt consolidation calls remain a persistent problem. Many of these offers promise a “quick fix” to repairing credit, but actually consist of practices that could harm your credit score in the long run.

5. Free offers or giveaways – While most phone scam calls rely on fear tactics, appealing to greed can also be an effective way to victimize targets. Remember if an offer seems too good to be true, it likely is!

Tips for avoiding this year's top phone scams:

- Understand that the Social Security Administration does not “suspend” your social security number for any reason. Any type of call or voicemail you receive with language to this effect is a scam.
 - Be wary of threatening voicemails: Scam callers increasingly rely on voicemails to accompany their impersonation schemes.
 - Dismiss threats and pressure tactics: All phone scams rely on an element of time pressure (demanding payment right now). Government agencies do not operate this way and will communicate by mail if there is an issue.

President's Message

Sue Manning

I want to draw eyeglasses on 2020, a year that sounds like excellent vision! I'm looking forward to this new year as president of Clayton Valley Village with the vision of helping bring the village way of life to more people in Concord and Clayton. We made good headway this past year with Jim Whitfield at the helm as president, and I want to express our thanks to Jim for his leadership.

This past year CVV's service area expanded to include Districts 1 and 5 in Concord and the unincorporated area in between. With that growth in coverage area, our most critical need is to increase the number of volunteers we have to assist our members. We will work to be more visible within Concord, talking to seniors about how a village can enhance their lives, both as members and as volunteers. Helping others is a lift to one's own spirit. Our first opportunity to speak about CVV is in January at the Concord Senior Center to the Commission on Aging.

In February, CVV will hold its annual meeting at Hoyer Hall in the Clayton Library, where the public is invited to hear what Clayton Valley Village has done and where we intend to go (grow) next. The date for that meeting is Wednesday, February 19, 2020 from 7 to 9 pm. Please put it on your calendar and join us!

I look forward to this new year. My wish for you is that it brings you good health, much happiness and a rosy outlook!

~ Sue Manning

Meet our new Executive Director
Carol Hansen Grey

Starting January 1, Carol Hansen Grey assumes the role of Executive Director of Clayton Valley Village. She has agreed to volunteer in this new position for a trial period of 6 months. During that time she will work closely with the new President, Sue Manning, as well as the Board, to follow through on action items approved at board meetings, to keep an up-to-date calendar of CVV meetings and activities, to present ideas and action plans for expanding membership, to develop new educational programs, to recruit and head up a fundraising committee, to be a voice for CVV at city council meetings, to interface with local city council leadership in order to spearhead joint CVV and community projects, and to connect with other villages including the Village to Village Network and Village Movement California.

Carol brings with her a background in nonprofit leadership. She served for 5 years as Executive Director of an international women's 501c3 organization where she planned and executed many successful fundraising events in addition to recruiting new board members and growing the organization's membership and treasury. She has served on the CVV Board for two years and was a representative from CVV to the National Village to Village conference in Chicago in September 2019. We are all enthusiastic about this new step in CVV's development and heartily welcome and support Carol in her new role.

PAST EVENTS

CVV Explorers “Hike” the Streets of Walnut Creek Dec. 9

Taking BART from Concord to Walnut Creek & back.

Enjoying the holiday decorations in Broadway Plaza

Passing up the Free Trolley Ride and Enjoying Lunch at Boudin's.

Monday December 9 the Village Explorers arrived at Concord BART and nabbed a parking spot not far from the entrance. At 10:00 am any open reserved spots are open to all but you must still pay the $3. parking fee. You can take the bus and avoid parking all together. There is a bus stop by the Clayton Library, Clayton Rd. We used our senior Clipper card to take the train to downtown Walnut Creek at a cost of .75 each way. You may also use the clipper card for the bus. We walked down Main St. and Broadway Plaza, walking through some of the larger stores to view the Christmas displays. We had lunch at Boudin sourdough restaurant, then had our picture taken in front of the giant Christmas tree by of the fountain. We decided to walk back to BART but there is a free shuttle that runs every 12 minutes you can take back to BART with a stop right by the tree. You could skip the walk from BART by catching the shuttle going into downtown. We walked back up Locust with a total of around 3 level miles. You can find out where to apply for a clipper card by going to the web site or call BART. It is convenient and a saving of almost half on fares for seniors.

OUR HOLIDAY MIXER

This year we held our annual Holiday Mixer at the Old Spaghetti Factory in downtown Concord. The food was delicious, the wait staff amazing, and the atmosphere festive. A fun time was had by all!

OLD SPAGHETTI FACTORY- CONCORD MIXER (Dec. 10)

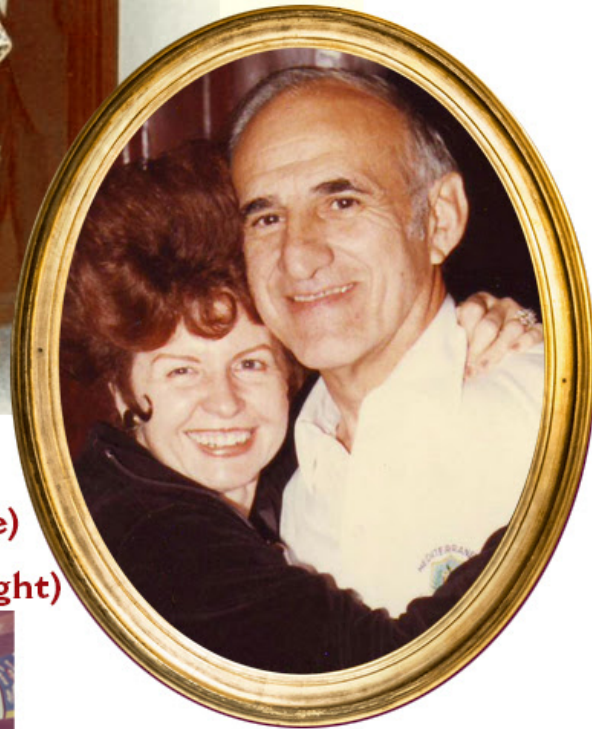

The Old Spaghetti Factory has an interesting history. It first opened its doors on January 10, 1969 in Portland, OR with an actual Trolley Car that the owners, Guss and Sally Dussin, refurbished and began using as a unique dining area within the restaurant. The trolley car has since become a fixture in this family owned business in their over 40 locations throughout the country. Read more at: <https://www.osf.com/about/>

On Thinking Big

"Anything's possible if you've got enough nerve". ~ J.K. Rowling

Who knows... you may even write a book series that becomes more popular than Harry Potter.

CVV members and volunteers have many interests, hobbies and skills, so we invite you to start an "Interest Circle." It's a great way to meet, share and learn from others in our village who share common interests. Suggestions include: walking/hiking, arts & crafts, book club, creative writing, woodworking, doll making, card making, painting, quilting, sewing, photography, dining in private homes, conversations on various topics, attending musical events and/or local theater, travel. What it comes down to, however, is the willingness of our Members and Volunteers to lead and coordinate these Interest Circles. If you'd like to share ideas and discuss further, please contact by email Sue at <suemanning121@gmail.com>
